OHIOAN IDENTIFIES MONA LISA MODEL

Stites Says Isabella D'Este
Posed for Famous
Work of Art.

By The Associated Press
YOUNG SPRING, O., May 20. — An examination of the model for the famous painting "Mona Lisa" was announced today by Dr. Stites, a professor of Art at the University of Cincinnati, who has been studying the work of the artist, Leonardo da Vinci, for many years.

Isabella d'Este, first lady of the Renaissance, posed for the portrait, reported Dr. Stites, professor of art at the University of Cincinnati.

The findings reported by Dr. Stites are based on one of the most valuable pieces of archaeological discovery with this year, followed years of research in Europe, he said.

"Now one begins to understand why the 'Mona Lisa' has always been so popular. It is the portrait of one of the noblest and most perfect women of the Renaissance," Dr. Stites added.

Marquise of Amboise, Isabella d'Este was the wife of Marquis Gonzaga, whose "victory" at Parnassus over the forces of Charles VIII is considered the first battle between nations.

Leonardo Da Vinci, painter of "Mona Lisa" made at least one drawing, a profile study, and one or two other paintings of her, the professor reported.

In 1919 an Italian writer announced that the model for "Mona Lisa" was the wife of another Italian, Piero Francesco Del Giocondo, but Dr. Stites asserted his findings disprove this.
